

Imagine!

June
2018

I magine what life would be like without time-saving technology such as washing machines and vacuum cleaners. Imagine what life would be like without modern transport such as cars, buses, trains or planes. Imagine having to walk for miles in order to meet our friends and family. Imagine what it would be like without television, radio, computer games, telephones, the internet and computers. Wouldn't life be wonderful, I hear some of you say!

Of course many of us do not have to imagine the absence of these things, because that's how it was in our youth. My early childhood was spent without washing machine, car, television or telephone. As time went by these things were added, and became the norm for the majority of homes. If we are honest, most of us would not want to return to those 'good old days', because we can also remember that it was not all good. Imagine being on the rota to stoke the church boilers at 4 am on a Sunday morning in the depth of winter, or going to a church which did not have any heating at all!

We sometimes forget that in the time of Jesus there was no technology as we know it today. Yes, the ruling Romans had horse-drawn vehicles and under-floor heating, but that was about it. I wonder how Jesus would regard all our sophisticated technology today. Would He want us to wind back the clocks, or would He encourage us to embrace everything that makes life easier? After his passionate sermon at the recent royal wedding, Bishop Michael Curry suddenly became a world-wide celebrity. His strong message on The Power of Love was broadcast across the world and taken up by social media. In the 1st century, Jesus was able to communicate with thousands of people; but now we are able to communicate with millions. Is the Christian Church missing the golden opportunity offered by 21st century technology?
